Launch of Centenary Celebrations of the Prestoungrange Gothenburg 1908–2008

Jorgen Lindner: The Lord Mayor of Gothenburg

Madam Provost, Lord Mayor, Guests from Armadale and Newtongrange, Goth Members here in Prestonpans

One hundred years ago the news after which this suite is named, Thomas Nyberg, signed the Loan Note for $200 that set this institution rolling. And all everyone connected with us here since that date has been a cornucopia of events that have been enjoyed from Armadale and Newtongrange.

The mighty Forth calm as glass! Good for the children! A field of stubble; a fine thing to see, big sunflowers at the Haven on old Topaz grave. Auldhammer House folk can still hear the tramcars run at the hush of dawn. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

Not everyone who has played their part in this restoration could possibly have foreseen how this site has become a magnet for artists and events. This is the story of how the Historical Society, in association with the Prestoungrange Gothenburg, has managed to bring an area of Prestonpans, largely abandoned, into use as a community institution that is a living legacy to the past.

A field of stubble; a fine thing to see, big sunflowers at the Haven on old Topaz grave. Auldhammer House folk can still hear the tramcars run at the hush of dawn. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls! A cow out the back. The mighty Forth calm as glass! Good for the children! A field of stubble; a fine thing to see, big sunflowers at the Haven on old Topaz grave. Auldhammer House folk can still hear the tramcars run at the hush of dawn. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

Not everyone who has played their part in this restoration could possibly have foreseen how this site has become a magnet for artists and events. This is the story of how the Historical Society, in association with the Prestoungrange Gothenburg, has managed to bring an area of Prestonpans, largely abandoned, into use as a community institution that is a living legacy to the past.

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

Not everyone who has played their part in this restoration could possibly have foreseen how this site has become a magnet for artists and events. This is the story of how the Historical Society, in association with the Prestoungrange Gothenburg, has managed to bring an area of Prestonpans, largely abandoned, into use as a community institution that is a living legacy to the past.

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

Not everyone who has played their part in this restoration could possibly have foreseen how this site has become a magnet for artists and events. This is the story of how the Historical Society, in association with the Prestoungrange Gothenburg, has managed to bring an area of Prestonpans, largely abandoned, into use as a community institution that is a living legacy to the past.

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

Not everyone who has played their part in this restoration could possibly have foreseen how this site has become a magnet for artists and events. This is the story of how the Historical Society, in association with the Prestoungrange Gothenburg, has managed to bring an area of Prestonpans, largely abandoned, into use as a community institution that is a living legacy to the past.

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

Not everyone who has played their part in this restoration could possibly have foreseen how this site has become a magnet for artists and events. This is the story of how the Historical Society, in association with the Prestoungrange Gothenburg, has managed to bring an area of Prestonpans, largely abandoned, into use as a community institution that is a living legacy to the past.

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

Not everyone who has played their part in this restoration could possibly have foreseen how this site has become a magnet for artists and events. This is the story of how the Historical Society, in association with the Prestoungrange Gothenburg, has managed to bring an area of Prestonpans, largely abandoned, into use as a community institution that is a living legacy to the past.

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

Not everyone who has played their part in this restoration could possibly have foreseen how this site has become a magnet for artists and events. This is the story of how the Historical Society, in association with the Prestoungrange Gothenburg, has managed to bring an area of Prestonpans, largely abandoned, into use as a community institution that is a living legacy to the past.

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

Not everyone who has played their part in this restoration could possibly have foreseen how this site has become a magnet for artists and events. This is the story of how the Historical Society, in association with the Prestoungrange Gothenburg, has managed to bring an area of Prestonpans, largely abandoned, into use as a community institution that is a living legacy to the past.

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

Not everyone who has played their part in this restoration could possibly have foreseen how this site has become a magnet for artists and events. This is the story of how the Historical Society, in association with the Prestoungrange Gothenburg, has managed to bring an area of Prestonpans, largely abandoned, into use as a community institution that is a living legacy to the past.

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

Not everyone who has played their part in this restoration could possibly have foreseen how this site has become a magnet for artists and events. This is the story of how the Historical Society, in association with the Prestoungrange Gothenburg, has managed to bring an area of Prestonpans, largely abandoned, into use as a community institution that is a living legacy to the past.

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

Not everyone who has played their part in this restoration could possibly have foreseen how this site has become a magnet for artists and events. This is the story of how the Historical Society, in association with the Prestoungrange Gothenburg, has managed to bring an area of Prestonpans, largely abandoned, into use as a community institution that is a living legacy to the past.

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

Not everyone who has played their part in this restoration could possibly have foreseen how this site has become a magnet for artists and events. This is the story of how the Historical Society, in association with the Prestoungrange Gothenburg, has managed to bring an area of Prestonpans, largely abandoned, into use as a community institution that is a living legacy to the past.

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

Not everyone who has played their part in this restoration could possibly have foreseen how this site has become a magnet for artists and events. This is the story of how the Historical Society, in association with the Prestoungrange Gothenburg, has managed to bring an area of Prestonpans, largely abandoned, into use as a community institution that is a living legacy to the past.

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

Not everyone who has played their part in this restoration could possibly have foreseen how this site has become a magnet for artists and events. This is the story of how the Historical Society, in association with the Prestoungrange Gothenburg, has managed to bring an area of Prestonpans, largely abandoned, into use as a community institution that is a living legacy to the past.

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

Not everyone who has played their part in this restoration could possibly have foreseen how this site has become a magnet for artists and events. This is the story of how the Historical Society, in association with the Prestoungrange Gothenburg, has managed to bring an area of Prestonpans, largely abandoned, into use as a community institution that is a living legacy to the past.

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!

Not everyone who has played their part in this restoration could possibly have foreseen how this site has become a magnet for artists and events. This is the story of how the Historical Society, in association with the Prestoungrange Gothenburg, has managed to bring an area of Prestonpans, largely abandoned, into use as a community institution that is a living legacy to the past.

A herd of goats ran down the lane. Thomas Nyberg on his head that the tide swept off. His head like a periscope: he prays for blank walls!